

From the editor	The NHS at 60: vulnerable but full of ideas Abbasi K	327
Editorials	Medical professionalism in 60 years of the NHS Irvine D	328
	Doctors, managers and the battle for quality Marshall M	330
	The NHS: 'losing my religion' Smith R	332
Letters	Response to 'The jigsaw of child protection' Scott F	334
	Morbidity from liposuction under general anaesthesia – 'the elephant in the room' Motley R, Field L	334
Essays	NHS 60 – a GP's view Field S	335
	The challenge of quality and patient safety Donaldson L	338
	Evidence-based medicine and the NHS: a commentary Darzi A	342
	The NHS at 60: the next 60 years Maynard A, Bloor K	345
Series	An unsuitable and degraded diet? Part two: realities of the mid-Victorian diet Clayton P, Rowbotham J	350
Review	Acknowledging a persistent truth: domestic violence in pregnancy Cook J, Bewley S	358
Research	How fast is fast enough? An audit and league table of response times of acute hospital NHS trust switchboards in England Shokrollahi K, Tadiparthi S, Jayagopal S	364
	Analysis of consultants' NHS and private incomes in England in 2003/4 Morris S, Elliott B, Ma A, McConnachie A, Rice N, Skåtun D, Sutton M	372
From the James Lind Library	A puzzling omission in a great medical textbook edited by a pioneer of controlled trials Neuhauser D, Diaz M, Chalmers I	381
Podium	From petri dish to high speed broadband: how the IT revolution is changing the NHS and how it works for patients Shaw J	384